Welcome to Llangollen

The organising committee of this the first international slalom and white water race to be held in Britain, extends a warm welcome to all competitors, spectators and helpers here in Llangollen this weekend. We welcome firstly the competitors who have travelled such long distances from so many countries to take part in this new and internationally unknown competition. We hope they will enjoy not only the canoeing but also the scenery and hospitality of Wales and England and will go home resolved to return again to future international slaloms at Llangollen. We apologise in advance for any difficulties that may occur during the competitions – some small teething troubles may be unavoidable, but we shall do our utmost to strive for a better competition in each successive year.

To the spectators we extend a warm welcome since, without people to watch and follow it, no sport can flourish. The sport of canoe slalom is growing rapidly in popularity in Britain and is to be included in the 1972 Olympics at Munich – For a full explanation of the sport, and notes of who and what to watch for this weekend, please turn to a later page. Suffice it for this note for us to hope that you enjoy the weekend of sport and that you are as enchanted with this beautiful setting in the vale of Llangollen as we are.

To the helpers we are especially grateful, since this slalom would not be possible without all the unsung heroes who man the judging and timing points, who perform the hundred and one jobs ranging from erection of the course to picking up the paper in the campsite. Helpers is a very wide term and we include in this category all the people of Llangollen who have done so much to smooth the organisation of the competition and to whom we wish to record publicly our gratitude. Official bodies such as the Town Council and the International Eisteddfod Committee have been most generous with their assistance, individuals have also done much to help and to you all we should like to say 'Thank you'. R.W.

The Rules of Slalom

Each competitor must negotiate the set sequence of gates, laid out over the rapids, in as fast a time as possible. His score for the run is the time he takes plus any penalties incurred by not passing a gate correctly, viz:

Penalties

- 10 seconds: for touching one pole from the inside of the gate
- 20 seconds: for touching two poles from the inside
- 50 seconds: incurred if only the boat or the body passes between the poles
- 100 seconds: incurred for omitting a gate

Each competitor has two runs over the course, his lowest score counting for the results list. A gate marked with an 'R' must be taken in reverse, and one marked with a 'T' means that during the team event, when there are three competitors on the course, all three must pass through the gate within 15 seconds otherwise a further penalty of 50 seconds is incurred.

Spectators Notes

The sport of canoe slalom was started in the 1920's by Alpine skiers who turned, in the summer months, from the snowless slopes to their fast flowing rivers for enjoyment. For this reason many of the terms in canoe slalom are related to ski-ing e.g. the Telemark turn and the slalom gate. Also the two disciplines – slalom and rapid river racing – are derived from the skiers, slalom and downhill races.

In 1949 the first World Championships were held and every two years from then on. Britain, along with the other European countries, increased the standard of her competitors until, in 1959, the ultimate goal was reached and Paul Farrant of Britain won the World Championship. The closest we have got to repeating this feat was in 1967 in Czechoslovakia when Dave Mitchell (Chester S.C.C.) won the silver medal. In the team event (three competitors on the water at one time) we were second only to the French at this year's World Championships.

The top slalom countries are undoubtedly The German Democratic Republic (commonly but erroneously known as East Germany), Czechoslovakia, West Germany (German Federal Republic), France, Austria, Switzerland and Great Britain. At the World Championships, held in France during August, The German Democratic Republic were unable to compete, due to a misunderstanding with the organisers. Against reduced competition, the French won a number of gold medals, so it will be interesting to see if they can be so successful in competition against The German Democratic Republic here this weekend. In the men's kayak event, the men to watch are Jurgen Bremer (German Democratic Republic), who was the previous world champion and was unable to defend his title in France this summer, and he will be trying to beat the present world champion, Claude Peschier, of France, but other paddlers who could easily win are Kurt Presslmayer of Austria, a previous world champion, or Britain's Ken Langford or Ray Calverley, the latter having come 4th at the World Championships.

The women's kayak event is certain to be dominated by Ludmila Polesna of Czechoslovakia, who has won the World Championships on a number of occasions, including this year. She may not have everything her own way however, and the others will be trying their best to catch her, especially our own Heather Goodman and Pauline Squires.

The Canadian style of canoe has only recently been introduced to Britain so we do not expect too much of our competitors this weekend. The technique required of these paddlers, who must kneel in their boats and use only a single blade is very sophisticated. The man tipped to win the single event is Petr Sodomka of Czechoslovakia who combines great strength with a finesse of technique which brought him the silver medal at the World Championships. Britain's paddlers are advancing steadily in skill and may well finish high up the results list. In the Canadian doubles event our best slalomists are Witter/Swift but it is doubtful whether they will be able to gain a placing against the strong German Democratic Republic opposition.

An event usually held abroad is the mixed Canadian doubles (normally with the girl in the stern). However, due to lack of support it is usual to let them compete in the men's class and this is the case today. The German Democratic Republic mixed pair of Grabo/Franz have been World Champions, however, and it would not be surprising to see them on the podium at the prize giving.
