Welcome to Llangollen

I am happy to be writing this opening page for the third year running and to be welcoming all competitors and spectators to what must surely now be termed a successful and established event here in Llangollen. Last year our second international canoe slalom faced many difficulties due to the lack of sponsorship. However, in spite of all, the event was an enjoyable success and was the subject of a live television broadcast on the independent network.

This year the British Canoe Union welcomes the interest which Consulate Cigarettes is showing in the International Canoe Slalom and believes that the association will be of benefit to both parties. Although commercial sponsorship of sport might be distasteful to some, it is hard to see an alternative method of bringing together so many world class sportsmen at an event of this calibre.

For it is certain that the Llangollen International slalom is one of the important events on the annual calendar and by far the high point of the British slalom year. With the 1972 Olympic slalom at Augsburg only 10 months away there will be little slacking off by competitors during the usual slalom close season of the winter months. For this reason we are seeing the top competitors of the best nations in the world competing here in Llangollen to gain the maximum amount of experience before the Olympic slalom on August 28th – 30th next year.

To run such an event as this is not an easy matter and I wish to express the gratitude of the British Canoe Union to all the people and organisations who have done so much to help the organisation of 'The Consulate International Canoe Slalom.' In particular I wish to thank the members of the organising committee who have been hard at work for the last 12 months arranging all aspects of the event. I trust that their work has not been in vain and that we shall witness a first class competition here this weekend.

Spectators Notes

The sport of canoe slalom was started in the 1920's by Alpine skiers who turned, in the summer months, from the snowless slopes to their fast flowing rivers for enjoyment. For this reason many of the terms in canoe slalom are related to skiing, e.g., the Telemark turn and the slalom gate. Also the two disciplines – slalom and rapid river racing – are derived from the skiers' slalom and downhill races.

In 1949 the first World Championships were held and every two years from then on. Britain, along with other European countries, increased the standard of her competitors, until, in 1959, the ultimate goal was reached and Paul Farrant of Britain won the World Championship. The closest we have come to repeating this feat was in 1967 in Czechoslovakia when Dave Mitchell (Chester S.C.C.) won the silver medal.

The top slalom countries are undoubtedly the German Federal Republic, Austria, France and U.S.A. We are very pleased to welcome top competitors from these countries here this weekend. In particular the main paddlers to watch are those from Germany.

Next year at Munich, canoe slalom is to be included in the Olympic Games for the first time. At Augsburg, some 30 miles from the centre of the Games, the Germans have constructed a new and artificial slalom course especially for this competition. The new course is unlike anything ever used before for canoe slalom, being very narrow with waves created artificially by concrete blocks on the river bed. It is generally believed that the paddlers who are able to get the most practice on this artificial torrent will stand the best chance of winning the medals at the Olympics. Naturally therefore, the West Germans are the Olympic favourites and the other countries will be out to prove here at Llangollen, on this more natural course, that they are as good if not better.

A number of different classes are being contested this weekend, the most important being the men's senior kayaks. This is the most popular type of boat and the one in which most slalomists start competing. It is a derivation of the old Eskimo hunting kayak in which the paddler sits down and propels the craft with a double ended paddle. Also in kayaks there are classes for women and juniors.

A different style of boat is the Canadian canoe. This is derived from the Canadian fur traders' work horse and is propelled from a kneeling position with a single blade. At Llangollen we are only running one singles class and one doubles for these canoes, owing to the much smaller number of people who practise this highly skilled and sophisticated single blade technique.

Best wishes for the success of the

Accommodation for competitors is arranged at the Llangollen Youth Hostel – Tyndwr Hall – where bed and breakfast will be provided, free of charge, on Friday and Saturday evenings. Accommodation required over and above this will not be the responsibility of the competition organisers. A number of cafés and restaurants in Llangollen are able to provide midday and evening meals at a reasonable cost.

The organisers may be contacted during the day on the Old Station, or in the evening in the Royal Hotel. Under no circumstances must competitors or team leaders enter the control tent. Queries over judging and protests must be lodged with the head of the protest committee.

The competition will be run to ICF rules. All competitors will wear crash helmets, and the numbered bibs provided by the organisers. Competitors must attend the training in numbered order.

The team event will consist of two runs for each team. All teams and individuals must attend the start at the time shown or face disqualification.

The organisers, the British Canoe Union, can in no way hold themselves responsible for any loss or damage howsoever caused.

The Rules of Slalom

Each competitor must negotiate the set sequence of gates, laid out over the rapids, in as fast a time as possible. His score for the run is the time he takes plus any penalties incurred for not passing a gate correctly, viz:

Penalties

- 10 seconds: For touching a pole from the inside of the gate
- 20 seconds: For touching a pole from the outside, if followed by correct passage of the competitor.
- 20 seconds: Also given for touching both poles from the inside.
- 50 seconds: Given for an outside touch where the competitor does not subsequently pass through the gate, or where the gate is completely omitted.

Each competitor has two runs over the course, his better score counting towards the results.

A gate marked 'R' must be taken in reverse.

During the Saturday team event you will see the competitors bunching together at the Consulate team gate (marked with a 'T'). Here they must all pass through the gate within 15 seconds or incur a 50 second penalty.

4th - 9th July, 1972

It's a small world . . . yes a small world set in the green echoing hills of a Welsh valley - the Vale of Llangollen which for one week in July of each year becomes the most cosmopolitan spot on earth. What delights the eye more than colour - what gladdens the heart more than friendship - what excites more than spectacle and what brings greater joy than music?

Here in Llangollen you have it all in abundance - the most exciting world of all within your reach, a gay, wonderful world in complete concord - here you will witness and become part of an ideal unknown anywhere else on earth - an International stage where the greatest in song and dance is yours to enjoy, where the colour of song is matched not only with costume and flora but with an atmosphere which must be experienced to be believed.

Let Llangollen welcome you as it welcomes the world, let it show you that the age of miracles is not yet past and let it send you home transfused with emotion, enthralled with magic memories.
